14th June, 1906.

Gentlemen,

P.M.C.

I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 13th instant, in reference to the subject of the testing of the chain cable intended for use on board one of the new Cunard steamers, and to say that the contents are duly noted.

You will have received from the Secretary, who is with the Visitation Committee which is now in the Clyde district, the following telegram:-

"Authorize you witness testing special cables on behalf Owners upon distinct understanding your attendance in no way detracts from full responsibility of Superintendent of Proving House. You should report results to Committee"; and I have telegraphed to Mr. Penn, the Superintendent of Lloyd's Proving House, Cardiff, as follows:-

"Society's Surveyors Cardiff have been authorized witness testing special cables on behalf Cunard Company".

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

The Surveyors,

pro Secretary.

CARDIFF.
