Dear Sirs,

Motorship "IRINI'S LUCK"

It is understood the above-named ship is now on a voyage to Stettin.

The year of grace for the overdue Special Survey expired last October, and the Committee have now had before them a request from the Owners for extension of class to enable them to take the vessel, with cargo, to the Eastern Mediterranean.

A General Examination, including drydocking was held at Piraeus last October, and the Surveyors have been asked whether, in their opinion, the parts seen by them can be regarded as efficient until the end of March 1963, to which they have replied in the affirmative.

I enclose a copy of letter addressed to the Owners' London Agents, from which it will be noted that the Committee will be prepared to continue the ship's class until the end of March provided the Surveyor at Stettin is afforded an opportunity to satisfy himself that the vessel is placed in a fit condition for the period contemplated. To this end, he will be expected to call for the remainder of the ship to be opened up and examined afloat as far as he may consider necessary. The plating should be drilled on the same basis; so the extent of the survey required will be left to the discretion of the Surveyor concerned. If he requires less than the outstanding Special Survey items to be examined, it will be helpful if he will state his reasons when sending his report.
