QUESTION.

ANSWER.

According to information received in this office, the above-mentioned vessel broke her moorings on 10th April and grounded on sandy bottom at Mazarrón. Please enquire and let me know whether she has been refloated and if not, whether she has sustained damage enough to warrant a casualty posting in the Register Book.

We are informed by our acting surveyor in Cartagena that the vessel is still grounded at Mazarrón, but appears to have sustained little damage. However all efforts to float her have failed and it is rumoured that the ship will be sold. We shall make further enquiries on our next visit to Cartagena and let you know full details in due course.
