00485 "EMPIRE SALVAGE" I duly received your letter of the 22nd ltimo and it is assumed as in other cases of a similar nature which ave already been dealt with, that the fees for survey during construcion and First Entry of Class were duly paid by the builders. It is herefore considered so far as the hull is concerned, that a suitable ee should now be charged to cover the services rendered by you in spect of the General Examination, alterations etc. With regard to he machinery, it is thought a suitable fee will be £20.0.0. for the urvey of the engines, £3.0.0. for the Boiler Survey and £4.0.0.
or the electrical equipment.
