Dear Sirs,

With reference to your letter of the 13th instant regarding the ex German motor tanker "MITTELMEER", I am directed to inform you that provided the insulation tests are satisfactory and the remaining requirements of the Rules, and the special requirements of Section 15 are complied with, no exception will be taken in this instance to the single pole switches in the accommodation spaces.

You should, however, indicate on your Rpt.10 that the installation has been examined, megger tested and placed in a satisfactory condition, but that the single pole switches fitted in accommodation spaces do not comply with the Society's Rules for "Vessels carrying petroleum in bulk".

Yours faithfully,

Clerk to the
