14th December, 1908.

Gentlemen,

I have to acquaint you that the West Hartlepool Surveyors have reported that to complete the first entry machinery survey in the case of the S.S. "WERRIBEE" the spare set of feed and bilge pump valves require to be examined on board, and I have to request that you will give this matter the necessary attention in due course. I have also to request that you will state the date of the examination of sea connections before the launch of vessel or while in dry dock.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

Secretary

The Surveyors,

NEWCASTLE-on-TYNE.
