H, Dear Sir,

replied

In reply to your letters of the 14th ult. and 23rd inst. respecting the Steam Trawlers "ANNIBAL" and "HEROS", I beg to inform you that, on several occasions, I have tried to obtain from the Ministère de la Marine the usual undertaking regarding the sale of these two above vessels. I regret to say that no result has been obtained up to the present in that way.

The sale has not yet taken place. Upon enquiring again, Friday, the Ministère de la Marine advised this Office that a letter is being prepared by the Department in question which I will transmit to you as soon as received.

I am, dear Sir,

Yours Faithfully,

W. W. W. W.

1. The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the car was the cold. It wasn't just the temperature, but the way the air felt like a blanket. I had heard that the weather was perfect, but this was something else. I pulled my coat tighter and walked towards the entrance of the hotel. The lobby was grand, with high ceilings and ornate chandeliers. I found my room at the end of a long hallway. The door was slightly ajar, and I noticed a small note pinned to it. It was from the hotel manager, welcoming me and mentioning that the spa was open. I smiled and unlocked the door. The room was spacious and comfortable. I took a shower and got ready for the evening. The restaurant was on the ground floor, and I decided to go for a walk before dinner. The garden was beautiful, with manicured lawns and colorful flowers. I saw a few people walking around, but no one seemed to be in a hurry. I returned to the hotel and had a delicious meal. The service was impeccable, and the food was exactly what I needed. I went to bed feeling relaxed and happy. The next morning, I woke up early and went to the spa. The staff was friendly and helpful. I enjoyed the massage and the hot springs. I had a great day and was looking forward to the next one. The hotel was a perfect choice, and I was glad I had come. I had found a place where I could relax and enjoy myself. I had found a home.
