From your letter it would appear that the requirements set forth in my letter of the 14th February have now been carried out except that relating to the isolation of the boiler room, and I shall be glad to hear from you as to this point.

Your first entry reports on the barges should be accompanied by the plans dealing with the cases that were returned to you in my letter of the 14th February.

The spacing of timber and size of timber at floors and at head, the size of floors, number and size of beam knees should be clearly indicated, and you should at the same time say whether any diagonal plates have been fitted as required by Section 39 of the Rules for wood and composite ships.

You should further state what provision has been made to protect the woodwork in the boiler room from saturation by oil and against fire, in accordance with item 2 of my letter above referred to.
