The Secretary,
Sir.

In connection with my letter of the 25th instant regarding the Admiralty trawler "Daisy". I now beg to inform you, that the alterations set forth in my letter, namely the fitting of a new main shaft, with finer pitched thread for capstan nuts, has now been carried out, and a series of trials were made at sea today, to the satisfaction of the Admiralty officials and myself, and in consequence they have now recommended the vessel for acceptance, and at their request the various certificates have been handed over to the builders.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant.

R. Ridley, M.P.
