8th June, 1949.

Dear Sirs,

Tanker "BEN HENSHAW"

With reference to your telephone call today regarding this ship from which it is learnt that the electric generator which supplies current to the electrically driven windlass is under repair ashore and may require fourteen days to complete, I have to confirm that if arrangements are provided for the hand working of the windlass and found to be satisfactory by the Society's Surveyors, no objection will be taken by this Society to the electrically driven windlass remaining out of use for the present.

I shall be obliged if you will advise me as soon as possible when and where the necessary examination of the hand operated windlass may be made.

Yours faithfully,

Clerk to the
Classification Committee

Co. Ltd.,
