The castings were made and tested in accordance with the requirements of this Society and the materials and workmanship of the completed unit are good.

Hydrostatic tests on the steam chest, turbine and pump casings were witnessed by the undersigned, and these were found sound and tight.

On completion of assembly, the unit was operated, in the presence of the undersigned, under varying conditions of load, the over-speed trip and back pressure relief valve tested with satisfactory results, and throughout the trials the unit was found to run free of mechanical troubles or vibration.

This unit is eligible, in my opinion, to be part of the machinery of a vessel classed, or contemplating class with this Society, subject to satisfactory installation and trials on board.

For purposes of identification, the unit has been stamped as follows:
