S.S. "ARMIDA" (ex "Greendyke")

25th June, 1913.

Dear Dr. Thearle,

The vessel was built in 1883 and underwent I hope that after your fourteen days' hard labour with the Visitation Committee you are now enjoying the holiday arranged by the Institution of Naval Architects for their Summer Meetings, and that you are being, and will continue to be, favoured with good weather, which makes such a difference on the Clyde.

During my recent visit to Aberdeen, Mr. Powell, in
As you are in Scotland, the Chairman and Deputy Chairman think it well to bring the case of the S.S. "ARMIDA" ex "GREENDYKE" under your notice, and if you can, without inconvenience, pay a visit to Aberdeen before you return, it is suggested that it would be well for you to look into this case. In any event you will no doubt make inquiry regarding the survey which was held at Ardrossan in 1911.

Yours faithfully,

As the case seems to be one of some importance, I think it well to report the circumstances as communicated to

S.J.P. Thearle, Esq., D.Sc., Central Station Hotel,
GLASGOW.
