Dear Mr. Weymouth,

I write you affectionately on the subject of our conversation on Tuesday.

The owners of the steamer are young men just starting business & they are in a great fright about committing themselves to any mistake which might impair their insurance

They have the vessel under a short charter party & fear if she is detained for cable they may have trouble. ~~but~~ She has all her crew on board & the loss will be considerable.
I hope we shall have the birth of the new cable on Monday morning & the rest when she gets to Liverpool. I shall be much obliged if you can put the matter so

Wt I can assure them they run no risk & that you will be able to wire me that the certificate is issued

Yours faithfully
John Scott
