S.S. "TIME".

The Chief Ship Surveyor has had a conversation afternoon by telephone with Mr. McAuslan, the Principal Surveyor at West Hartlepool, with reference to the case of the S.S. "TIME" now under his survey and the telegram received this day relating thereto from Mr. Priestman, the Underwriter of the vessel.

Mr. McAuslan states that the vessel is now under survey and that he has made the recommendations in the telegram which he considers to be suitable and necessary, but Mr. Priestman and the Underwriters' Surveyors representing the Committee consider that Mr. McAuslan's recommendations are in accordance with the actual requirements of the case, and have made application by telegram for a special survey to be held. Mr. McAuslan says he is quite satisfied that the recommendations made by him are proper ones, but as a different view is taken by the Builder of the vessel who has demanded for a special survey he considers it proper that the Surveyors should join him in an examination of the vessel and for that purpose he will be very pleased to have Mr. Gilmour, the Principal Surveyor at Middlesbrough, attend such a survey.

It is submitted that Mr. McAuslan be informed in reference to his conversation on the telephone this morning by the Chief Ship Surveyor that Mr. Gilmour, the Principal Surveyor at Middlesbrough, has been instructed to proceed to West Hartlepool tomorrow and join him in holding a special survey upon the S.S. "TIME" and in reporting upon the results thereof for the information of the Committee.

It is further submitted that Mr. Gilmour, the Principal Surveyor at Middlesbrough, should be instructed to proceed without delay tomorrow to West Hartlepool and join

Mr. McAuslan, the Principal Surveyor at that port, in holding a special survey upon the S.S. "TIME" now in dry dock there and in reporting upon the same for the information of the Committee.

It is also submitted that Mr. Priestman should be informed that instructions have been given for a special survey to be held upon the S.S. "TIME" at West Hartlepool as requested by him and that such survey will be held tomorrow.
