Dear Sirs,

S.T. "SKÁLABERG"

A couple of days ago I visited Klaksvig where between other ships the steam trawler "Skálaberg" is laid up. As I saw they were raising steam I saw one of the engineers asking whether they were going fishing or what. He said the vessel had been sold. Later I saw a representative for the Owners. He said: Yes, the vessel has been sold to a Belgian firm, as soon as payment has been received the vessel will leave. He did not know whether the new Owner intended to put the vessel into service or he was going to break it up.

Meanwhile, I remain,
Yours faithfully

Nilsen Nielson
