Dear Mr. Redman,

I have yours of the 25th instant dealing with the case of the Steamer "ARBROATH" ex "ALEXANDRA", No. 08638 in the Register Book, the contents of which have been noted.

With regard to the last paragraph of your letter, I would point out that, as will be seen from the plans and from my letter of the 21st instant, the forward end of the deckhouse in question is adequately supported by the bridge front bulkhead with its stiffeners and brackets, and at the after end the deckhouse is supported by a steel bulkhead fitted in the vicinity of the forward end of the machinery casing.

Yours faithfully,

C.F. Redman, Esq.,
LONDON.
