

EXTRACT FROM THE RULES OF THE BRITISH CORPORATION FOR
THE YEAR 1924.

The special periodical surveys on classed vessels are to be carried out at intervals of four years from the date of build, or at such shorter intervals as may be fixed by the Committee in special cases, or from a date six months after launching in the case of a new vessel not completed within that period. Such surveys may, if desired by the Owners, be carried out prior to the date when they become due, provided the subsequent interval between surveys does not exceed four years.
