MILFORD HAVEN, December 6th 1924.

Dear Sir,

Reverting to your letter of the 2nd instant respecting the steam trawler "DOMQUE GENTILE" under the heading of "Destined voyage". The reason I stated the vessel is "fishing" was, I had been informed by one of the officials under D. Pettit, Ltd., that the firm had purchased the steam trawler "JAMES CEPELL" and also the "DOMQUE GENTILE" and as the firm had their Superintendent Engineer examining the vessels during the time I was there, I thought I had grounds for making the entry as stated.

Up to the present I have not heard anything different, but I understand the vessels in question have been sold.

I am, Dear Sir,

Yours faithfully,

(Signed) JOHN STOCKS.

Surveyor.

The Secretary, S,

LONDON.
