The vessel has been laid up, and the usual undertaking (dated 18.11.30) has been furnished.

A request was received from the Owners last month that the vessel might be allowed to proceed to Italy under her own steam with a cargo of coal, where she would be broken up, but the Committee would not agree to this.

The vessel left the Tyne on the 3rd instant, and in reply to telephonic enquiry the Owners' Agents stated that she had been sold for breaking up purposes.

The Newcastle Surveyors were communicated with, and they state that the late Owners were not in a position to give them any information as the vessel had been taken out of their hands by the Bank. They understand, however, that she has been sold to a shipbreaking firm.

In view of the fact that the 2nd Special Survey No.1 became due so long ago as June 1929, and that this has not been completed before the vessel left Newcastle, it is submitted that the vessel's class in the Register Book might be expunged with a red line.
