I shall also be glad if you will let me know by return mail whether the boiler is fitted with forced draught, and give the number and diameter of the boiler safety valves.

As regards the statement on your report relating to the anchor test certificates, I may say that I have been in communication with the Owners here, who inform me that nine anchor certificates and six wire rope certificates were sent to their friends in Burmah on the 23rd June last".

As it is desirable that the classification certificates should be issued without an endorsement regarding the verification of the anchors, I cabled you today in the Society's code, as follows, which I now confirm, and await your reply,
