With reference to the entries of Marine Casualties in Lloyd's List of the 11th and 12th instant, we think it well to inform you that the above vessel is now sunk off Redcar following collision with the s.s. "TEMPLE BAR" and is believed to be lying on sand.

It is understood from Commander Smith, Salvage Surveyor of West Hartlepool, that salvaging operations will be attempted.

We will keep in touch with Commander Smith on this case and advise you should the salvaging operations not prove successful.

Yours faithfully,
The Surveyors,
