Dear Sirs,

We are in receipt of yours of the 12th instant and think the position you take up is a very unfair one;

Houston was at the launch and saw the rivet hole and was opinion this could be noted and the rivet hole bored rough the next time she was in drydock.

We are building this ship under Government contract on st and we think it a needless expense to put the Owners to.

Mr Houston had said he insisted upon drydocking we would immediately have stopped the launch and launched her the xt day.

Yours faithfully,

R. Williamson Har
