QUESTION.

According to a report received from the Chief of the Mission Francaise at Genoa, this yacht has been found sunk there and it is stated that her condition is not too bad.

As she stands as a fully classed vessel in this Society's Yacht Register, and the next edition of the Yacht Register is now in course of compilation, I shall be glad to learn, by return mail if possible, whether any decision has been reached regarding her disposal.

ANSWER.

Date:— 31st January, 1947.

We are now informed from the local Mission Francaise, that this yacht is still sunk at this port.

They also added that, as the Owner, Mrs. Rumbold, Palais Chambrun, Nice (France), is a British subject, they are no longer interested in this case, but they are aware that Mrs. Rumbold has already made an application to the British Embassy in Rome, with a view to obtain the restitution of the vessel from the interested parties.
