SOURCE OF INFORMATION.

In connection with the scuttling of the Wolfsburg and Aruca, a Reuter message from Reykjavik, dated Monday, states:—

A series of dramatic wireless messages were picked up by Reykjavik Radio over the week-end. On Saturday afternoon came an SOS call from the German steamer "Wolfsburg" (6201 tons) giving her position as north-west of Cape Horn, a cape on the north-west coast of Iceland. The wireless messages became confused, and it was assumed that the "Wolfsburg" had sunk. At 10 a.m. on Sunday there was an SOS from the German steamer "Aruca" (3369 tons) stated to be south-west of Hornafjord. The message said that the ship was sinking rapidly. Soon after, on the same wavelength, came the message: "Are no longer in need of assistance."
