end of April, the Committee are surprised to find that the present cycle of Continuous Survey was not completed on the present occasion, especially as the year of grace in this case expired at the end of January last. They conclude that the survey will be advanced as far as possible at Buenos Aires, but in the event of any items being left over, they must insist upon these being attended to without fail on the vessel's return. I have therefore to request that you will make definite arrangements with the Owners accordingly, and confirm to this Office that this has been done.
