LONDON.

My dear Mare,

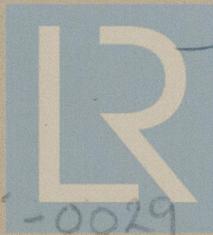

Yours of yesterday - we have been in touch with our Bookseller friends, J.J. Pembrey, on the subject of your small outstanding account, and have promise of payment early next week. Apparently the matter was in the hands of their Accountant who is away on holiday this week.

As regards the expenses of Mr. Akester and Mr. Riddell re "JOSEPH MEDILL", these have not been paid from the Newcastle Petty Cash, and your suggestion seems to be quite in order.

Had a very good holiday in the land of Mr. Hitler. The weather was not perfect but was a good deal better than seems to have been the case at home during the period. Hope you also had a successful vacation.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

J.P. Pembrey
