Dear Sir,

Replying to yours of the 14th inst, we have to advise you that the abovenamed vessel is still laid up.

We note that the Boiler Survey became due in October last, and whilst we will advise the Owners of the position, we feel sure they will wish to defer the Survey requirements until such time as the vessel is again brought into service, and we shall be glad to know that this will meet with the approval of your Committee.

Yours truly,

My dear Mr. Hull: The President of the United States has just received the report of the Commission on the activities of the German Government in the United States. The report is a very serious one and it is my duty to inform you of its contents. The Commission has found that the German Government has been engaged in a systematic campaign of espionage and sabotage in the United States. This campaign has been carried out by a number of German agents who have been working in various parts of the country. The Commission has also found that the German Government has been engaged in a campaign of propaganda in the United States. This campaign has been carried out by a number of German agents who have been working in various parts of the country. The Commission has also found that the German Government has been engaged in a campaign of subversion in the United States. This campaign has been carried out by a number of German agents who have been working in various parts of the country.
