London, Oct. 1.—Five men belonging to the small Sunderland steamer Taylor are feared to have been lost when their vessel capsized off Buchanness last night. The only survivor, Captain John Olsen, the Norwegian master, was in the water for five hours clinging to two planks until he was rescued by the Aberdeen trawler Ocean Princess. The trawler, bound for Faroe, ran into wreckage from the Taylor and then heard shouts from the water. James Innes, a deck hand, dived overboard in the darkness with a line and rescued Olsen. A thorough search of the area was made by the Ocean Princess, but she failed to find any trace of the other men, and then headed for Aberdeen, where Olsen, who was in an exhausted condition and had an injury to his hand, was taken by ambulance to the Royal Infirmary. The Taylor was bound to Sunderland from Buckie with a cargo of timber, and she is stated to have overturned about 7 o'clock last night. The master stated that his vessel took a heavy list, the engine-room filled with water, and she turned over and sank before they could get to the small boat.

The missing men are William Dedding, mate, Fulwell Road, Sunderland, Alexander Forbes, able seaman, Barrasgate Road, Fraserburgh, George Oag, first engineer, Louisebergh Street, Wick, John Blair, second engineer, Ballet Place, Fraserburgh, and James Joiner, ordinary seaman.

Aberdeen, Oct. 1.—At 5 20 a.m. to-day steam trawler Ocean Princess arrived with man on board, John Olsen, 56, master mariner, of 12, Ashley Grove, Fulwell, Sunderland. At 8 p.m. yesterday this vessel capsized eight miles SE. of Buchanness, and Olsen and his crew of five were floating on pieces of wood and cargo. At 11 30 p.m. he heard some of the crew speaking. At 12 30 a.m. to-day he was picked up by trawler Ocean Princess, which searched the vicinity and failed to find other members of the crew of the Taylor.

Aberdeen, Oct. 1.—Peterhead lifeboat returned to Peterhead at 1 p.m., having been out since 7 30 a.m. searching vicinity where steamer Taylor capsized, but has neither discovered nor seen anything.
