Enclosure.

Dear Sir,

With reference to our Report N°788I respecting the survey of one of the screwshafts of the steamer "SIDI FERRUCH", we beg to submit for the consideration of the Committee a proposal by the Owners to build up by electric welding the corroded surface at the fore end of the cone of the starboard screwshaft which was removed at the last docking. A sketch showing the maximum extent of the corrosion is forwarded herewith for reference and it will be observed that the wastage is not uniform around the surface of the cone but that it tapers from the amount indicated on the sketch to nothing in way of the key. The corrosion does not appear to have attacked the shaft below the bronze liner but it is proposed to cut away part of the liner so as to be certain that the electric welding is extended to sound material. The Owners state that the screwshaft of their steamer "MENDOZA" has been repaired in this manner and that it has given every satisfaction. We have also seen at the Works of the Etablissements Groignard, Marseilles, a

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor creases and discoloration, characteristic of old paper. The left edge of the page shows the binding structure, with visible stitching or staples. There is no text or other markings on the page.
