This vessel, built to class in 1907, is now being fitted with deep tanks for the carriage of palm oil as cargo, the Owners also desiring the arrangements to be such as not to interfere with the carriage of general cargo.

A plan of proposed alterations to the pumping arrangements has now been received for consideration.

IT IS SUBMITTED that the plan of proposed alterations to the pumping arrangements in connection with the fitting of deep tanks for the carriage of palm oil as cargo merits approval, provided the arrangements be as shown and amended on the plan and the remaining requirements of Sections 20 and 34 of the Rules (1927-28) be complied with so far as they are applicable.

It is concluded that the cargo oil will be pumped out by means of shore pumps, but this should be confirmed.
