21st January, 1915.

Dear Captain Segrave,

I am favoured with your letter of the 20th instant, and in pursuance of your desire I have had much pleasure in arranging for Mr. A. Campbell Holms, the Society's Principal Outdoor Surveyor for the London District, to proceed this morning to the Greenland Dock with a view to holding a survey on the prize steamer "TROSTBURG". You may rely upon the case receiving our most careful attention.

I am sorry to hear that you are confined to bed with an attack of influenza, but I am pleased to see from the general tenor of your note that this has not in your case had the usual effect of depressing the patient's spirits. I sincerely trust that you are making good progress and will very soon be feeling quite yourself again.

With kindest regards and Best Wishes for the New Year to Mrs. Segrave and yourself,

Captain T.G. Segrave.

Yours sincerely,
