19th October, 1914.

Dear Sirs,

I have to confirm the following telegrams which have passed between us today respecting the new steamer

"HANS JENSEN":-

Received:-"New steamer HANS JENSEN agents would be glad
"information regarding classification certificates"

Sent:- "HANS JENSEN to complete machinery survey main
"boiler valves require adjusting 180 pounds please
"complete at once and report by wire".

Received:-"HANS JENSEN arranged adjust safety valves tomorrow
"Agents glad if Certificate could be forwarded
"and handed over on completion survey".

The case of this vessel will be submitted to the Committee tomorrow, and I shall be glad if you will wire as soon as the safety valves have been adjusted.

I may remark for your personal information that the fees due for the Special Survey of the Hull of the vessel during construction, amounting to F1859 have not yet been received, and you should let me know whether there is any Representative of the Builders at your port, and whether any arrangement has been come to, as regards payment of the amount due

I am, Dear Sirs,
Yours faithfully,

The Surveyors,

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.
