Port OF LIVERPOOL.

21st. February, 1941.

This is to Certify that I have

Surveyed the Steel Sc. "HOUSATONIC", 5559 tons gross of London, on the 7th. February, 1941, and subsequently on account of leakage stated to have been sustained in the engine room through the main inlet at turn of bilge port side and on account of a fractured shell plate on the port bow at the heel of a frame stated to have been caused by the anchor fluke.
